

Dwelling Together

URBAN HOUSING, NEIGHBORLINESS AND MULTI-LOCAL HOMEMAKING

A lecture and conversation series organized by the interdisciplinary Working Group Urban Dwellings

summer term 2023 at HU Berlin

The lecture & conversation series DWELLING TOGETHER seeks to bring together practitioners, filmmakers and scholars working on questions of affordable housing in times of market-driven construction and lack of building land; architecture and infrastructure that enables humans (and potentially other species too) to live 'well' together - in cities, peri-urban or in rural regions.

We aim to discuss research findings that inquire the topic from a spatial perspective and look into, for instance, living and temporary homemaking on the university campus; dwelling together in rapidly changing neighborhoods, or multi-local living arrangements/living-apart-together within and across regions or national borders.

DWELLING TOGETHER is organized and hosted by members of Urban Dwellings - a Berlin based working group which emerged through various collaborations in the framework of the BUA-funded joint research project "Beyond Social Cohesion - Global Repertoires of Living Together (RePLITO)" and cooperation with Off-University. Researchers of all levels, from different disciplinary and personal backgrounds share their theoretical and methodological approaches to the interrelated questions of housing, dwelling, and living (well) together in plural and highly unequal societies.

Members of the Working Group Urban Dwellings are:

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Tuba İnal-Çekiç (HU Berlin & Off-University)

Dr. Arshi Javaid (FU Berlin & RePLITO)

Dr. İclal Ayşe Küçükkırca (HU Berlin & Off-University)
